

The Column At Work

by
Supt. Royal Gagnon
Officer Commanding
R.C.M.P., Montreal

I have been invited to write a series of articles for the "McGill Daily," on subversive activities in this country, and perhaps to outline ways and means by which you students can assist in combating such elements.

I intend in this article to touch only briefly on the individual subversive organizations in an effort to give you an outline of the points common to the Nazis, Fascists and Communists, and of the general situation created by their activities. A more detailed study of each of these "isms" is planned in the future.

I think that we can agree now that all of these subversive groups have one common purpose—that of destroying Canada and everything Canadian. Together, and to fully appreciate the dangers, we must consider them as one evil lot—they represent a poisonous, cancerous growth that must be clearly and finally cut away in order to preserve the national life of our country.

Nazism, Fascism and Communism have been aptly described by one writer as "Movements that promise to fill the bellies of their people, while at the same time retaining the right to slit those bellies at will." Obviously, however, such movements could have made little headway had they presented their arguments in such a bold form. In order to secure membership, it was necessary to use heavy sugar coating, the flavor depending on the taste of the particular class or section of society at which they were aiming.

Canadian Activities
I do not need to tell you that all of these organizations became active in Canada. You all know that up until the outbreak of the war, Nazi groups held frequent meetings throughout the country, the Fascists complete in black shirt regalia, paraded openly through our streets and much was heard of the activities of the Communists. How, you will ask, did these movements that we now know represent everything we abhor, secure a footing in Canada.

For the present, in order to get the broad, general picture, let us go back about seven years. That brings us to 1933, the year in which Hitler finally achieved dictatorial powers in Germany. Germany was a long way off in those days. Very few people bothered to do more than form snap judgments opinions from the headlines. Yet, that Party was already active here. You will remember that Hitler was largely headlined as a clown. You will also remember, if you think back, that many people, without bothering to go further than the headlines, quite openly expressed the opinion that some of Hitler's methods were to be admired. That opinion was, even at that time, being deliberately fostered by Nazi agents.

Fascists vs. Communists
What of our Fascists at that time. The black shirt had made its appearance in Canada and I am sure that you will recall several public occasions on which it was worn. But Italy, too, seemed far away. The Communists had, of course, for years been in the limelight, but it was at about that time that the fight between the Communists on (Continued on Page Four)

Science Club Hears Dr. Roscoe Tomorrow

Dr. Muriel Roscoe, Warden of the Royal Victoria College, will be the guest speaker at a meeting of the Science Women's Club tomorrow afternoon, at 5 o'clock, in the R.V.C. Common Room.

Dr. Roscoe, who is also teaching and doing research in the Department of Botany, will address the club on some aspect of her work.

Tea will be served at this meeting.

CO-EDS DEBATE MERCY KILLING

Final Series of Debates to Be Held

Inter-Class Champion Will Be Chosen During Finals

Whether or not mercy killings should be legalized will be the subject of debate during the final debating series to be held under the auspices of the Women's Debating Society. The final debates will be held on February 20, and will decide the best debaters in each year.

The chairman will lead off the argument by presenting the affirmative point of view. Each speaker will support the argument from the opposite view from that taken by the previous speaker. Although the place and judges of the debates have not yet been announced, all co-eds who are interested in participating in this final series are advised to contact the chairman before Saturday of this week.

The Executive stated that in the event of the number of participants exceeding the time limit, the series will be finished off a class at a time.

The inter-class debate scheduled for next week will be between the sophomore and junior years. Marian Dryer and Jean Mitchell, sophomores, will meet juniors, Barbara Johnson and Marian Savage. The topic is announced as: "Resolved that Commercialism has given as much as it has taken away." This debate will take place on Friday, in Room 12 of the Arts Building at five o'clock.

SOUTH AMERICANS TO ADDRESS CLUB

Gubbins and Ortega to Talk to Spanish Club on Native Lands

Carlos Gubbins and Alvaro Ortega will discuss Latin America at the meeting of Club Hispanico tomorrow night, in the Union Grill, at 8:15 p.m.

Gubbins, a native of Peru, attended university in England, and later in Ireland when the war broke out. He is studying Commerce at McGill.

Ortega, a student in the Faculty of Architecture, comes from Bogota, Colombia. He attended the Ecole des Arts Decoratifs in Paris, and was there when the Allies declared war on Germany. He will discuss (Continued on Page Four)

SAVINGS DRIVE DUE TO START THIS THURSDAY

McGill Plan to Be Integrated With National Campaign

PLAN WELL SUPPORTED

Committee Will Hold Meeting on Wednesday to Discuss Plan

The War Savings Plan at McGill will soon get under way. This Plan is being integrated with that of the National campaign, and is scheduled to begin on Thursday, February 13th as is stated by a member of the War Savings Committee. The Committee will hold a meeting tomorrow as there is at present no definite plan of procedure.

The support the plan is receiving is evident from the sale of War Stamps to date. The Committee is immensely pleased, and points out that regular investment is of great financial benefit to the individual and to the country at War. Civilian needs must not compete with war needs.

When sixteen War Savings stamps have been bought at intervals, War Savings Certificates may be purchased. The executive emphasizes that the financial benefit to the individual is so great, that although everyone is familiar with the rates of interest on War Savings Certificates, they bear repeating. The rate of interest is 3 per cent, compounded half-yearly, so that for every four dollars invested, at the end of seven and one half years from the date of the issue of the certificate, five dollars is received.

Today's Soldiers Learn German In Modern Simplified Courses

Present Day Tommies Will Be Able to Get On More Easily in a Defeated Germany Than Their Fathers Did in the Last War

By S.F.C.

When our boys get over to Germany to hang their washing on the Siegfried Line, they'll know just what to say to the conquered natives, when they arrive. And future writers won't be able to write so many books mocking the Tommies' well-known attempts to try and speak German, as they did after World War I.

The solution? . . . A small book, "German for Servicemen," which so simplifies the problem of learning German that it leaves out grammatical rules, and concentrates on phrases and sentences which would be of use to any soldier—in fact, even to any tourist. This handbook even goes so far in its usefulness that it lists military terms in German, to be used, no doubt, to take command of all defeated German troops that would happen to fall into British hands, as the Italians are doing now.

This handbook was written by Dr. A. O. Jacob, Ph.D., a former professor at the University of Zurich, Zurich, Switzerland. He has been here for fifteen years, and is now engaged in giving courses in German to groups of soldiers from His Majesty's Forces who have ap-

Library Features Exhibit Of Lincoln Anniversary

Display Shows Interesting Sidelights of The Life of the American President; Biographies, Pictures also Shown

By S.A.S.

To-morrow the American nation will celebrate the anniversary of the birth of that great American, Abraham Lincoln. Virginia Murray, of the Library School, has arranged an exhibit of "Lincolnia" now on display in the exhibition case in the foyer of the Redpath Library.

The main feature of the exhibit is a handbill of the Ford Theatre of the night—April 14, 1865—of that performance when President Lincoln was assassinated. It was a coincidence that the star of the performance, Miss Laura Keane, should be making her last appearance in "Our American Cousin" and that it should also be the last appearance of Abraham Lincoln.

Interesting sidelights of the exhibit are a series of pictures of the "Great Liberator" in the different stages of his life, pictures of his birthplace and illustrations from an issue of "Life Magazine" which discussed the trial of James Booth and his four accomplices, three men and a woman, who were hanged as having taken part in the plans for the assassination of the President.

A group of books that are in the Library's collection are also on display, either biographies or discussions of the various phases of Lincoln's life. "The Log Cabin Almanac," which is on display as well, gives "divers and sundry information about Abraham Lincoln with very little scientific data concerning the weather, the constellations and the firmament." This is a colorful publication which is published in Illinois by the Swedish and Finnish settlers.

The first inaugural address given by Lincoln is given in full and is fittingly titled, "An Oath Registered in Heaven." Lincoln's battle for the freedom of mankind, for the freedom of thought and the freedom of expression might well be fought again today and the "Great Liberator's" spirit should act as a guiding hand in this conflict.

PSYCHOLOGISTS TO HEAR VINER

Dr. Norman Viner to Discuss Psychoanalysis

Outline of Origin and History of Psychoanalysis Will Be Given

"The Present Status of Psychoanalysis" is the topic to be discussed by Dr. Norman Viner, M.D.C.M., at a meeting of the Psychological Society to be held on Thursday night in Strathcona Hall at 8 p.m. Dr. Viner graduated from McGill in both Arts and Medicine, and is now lecturer in Neurology here. Besides his duties at McGill, Dr. Viner carries on extensive work in the General, Western, Jewish and Verdun Protestant Hospitals.

"Dr. Viner," stated the Secretary of the Psychological Society, "is especially qualified to deal with the subject of psychoanalysis because of his extensive experience in this field." A short outline of the origin and history of psychoanalysis will be given by Dr. Viner, and he will describe the various techniques used and the "Philosophy" of psychoanalysis. "No other theory or technique in the field of mental (Continued on Page Four)

MUSIC FUND SPONSORS ST. VALENTINE'S BALL

The Music Fund is sponsoring a St. Valentine's Ball for the benefit of the Casavant Society and the Welfare Fund of the Royal Canadian Air Force. The dance will be held in the Windsor Hotel on Friday, at 10 p.m.

The music will be supplied by Andre Durieux's orchestra and the tickets are selling at $3.00 per person. The purchase of single, or "blind date," tickets is invited as the members of the Junior League and the Jeunesse Feminine are purchasing the other part of these double tickets and members of the Army, Navy and Air Force are doing the same.

Further information about this affair may be had by calling HA. 5481, or Willis and Co., corner Drummond and St. Catherine.

CHESS CLUB MEETS IN UNION TODAY

Executive to Be Elected and Plans Formulated for Future

The McGill Chess Club will hold a full meeting of all members this afternoon at 5:15 p.m. in the Reading Room of the McGill Union. At that time the executive for the next year will be elected, and plans of future activities formulated.

Although individual members of the club have been very active during the past months, particularly Joseph Rauch, who came second in the Dominion tournament last year, the club members generally have not been particularly active, outside of continuing to play chess every afternoon in the Union, stated a member of the executive.

The President of the Club, Reuben Singman, has left the University preparatory to joining the Army Medical Corps, and the column on "Chess" has thus to be discontinued because few of the other members were expert enough to write it, it was explained. The Vice-President and Secretary are also occupied with other extra-curricular activities, and hence it has been thought necessary to elect officers who have more spare time to further the interests of the club.

It has been proposed that at some time in the near future, Reuben Singman match his skill against 10 or more members of the club playing them all at the same time. In a similar tournament last year he won nine of twelve games, drew one, and lost two. The date of this tournament will be announced in the "Daily" soon.

Persons wishing to obtain copies of the picture taken at the R.V.C. vs. Engineering Hockey Match should see Edgar Ransom in the Pitt between 12-1 today.

SUBSTITUTES

DAVID ASHDOWN, who will play the role of Bill Paradene, in "Good Morning, Bill."

DIRECTOR OF Y.M.H.A. DISCUSSES FRESHMEN

Mr. Harvey Golden, executive director of Montreal's Y.M.H.A., will be the guest speaker at a meeting of the Maccabean Circle, which will be held next Sunday afternoon at three o'clock, in the Grill Room at the Union. Mr. Golden will speak on "The Freshmen of 1919."

There will be a regular business session before the feature of the meeting, which is the second to be held this term. Refreshments will be served afterwards in the Union Cafeteria.

MCGILL GRADUATE TAKES OVER POST

Archibald Newman Is Appointed to Position of Advertising Manager

Archibald Newman, member of the McGill Daily staff in 1922, has recently been appointed to the post of advertising manager of Tip Top Tailors Limited.

Mr. Newman who, after leaving the University, was a member of the Toronto Star for nine years has acquired a wide reputation as a journalist active in newspaper, and magazine work, book-publishing and advertising circles. He has served as reporter, feature writer, editor and, for nearly four years, as fiction editor of the Star Weekly. As author of the column, "Books and Bookmen," his name is known throughout Canada.

Mr. Newman worked on the Daily throughout his University career and has, since leaving McGill been active in some field of literary endeavor.

'LOOK' SPONSORS PICTURE CONTEST

Each Entry to Be Accompanied by Explanatory Story

The American picture magazine, "Look," is sponsoring a picture contest open to all students of any college or university in Canada or the United States. The subject matter for the pictures is not limited, sports or studies, research or recreation can be considered.

There are $1,000 in prizes and the first prize is $500. Entrants should submit at least ten and not more than fifty photographs and each entry should be accompanied by an explanatory story of 2,000 words or less.

The prizes offered are quite high as the average price paid per picture is about $5.00 but the "Look" magazine is willing to pay as much as ten times the regular price in this contest. The closing date for the contest is April 15, 1941. Further details may be had from: College Picture Editor, "Look" Inc., 511 Fifth Ave., New York City.

Dr. Northcote Deek Speaks for I.V.C.F.

Dr. Northcote Deek, explorer and missionary, will speak at the I.V.C.F. luncheon today in the Union Grill, at 1 o'clock. Dr. Deek, who addressed the Inter-Varsity and Inter-School Christian Fellowship Conference last week-end, will also speak at the Diocesan College tomorrow from 1:30 till 1:55 p.m.

Dr. Deek was born in Australia and is a graduate in medicine of the University of Edinburgh. For nineteen years he served as a medical missionary in the Solomon Islands of the South Pacific.

REPLACES DRAKE

Players' Club Produces 'Good Morning, Bill'

PATRONS ANNOUNCED

Play to Be Shown in Moyse Hall This Week-End

An important change in the cast for the Players' Club production "Good Morning, Bill" was announced by the executive of the Club last night. Owing to illness, Monty Drake, previously scheduled to play the role of Bill Paradene, will not be able to take part. His understudy, David Ashdown, remembered for his characterizations, last year, of the leading roles of the Hon. Allan Howard, in "French Without Tears," and Richard II, in "Richard of Bordeaux," will take his place.

Ashdown, previously cast for the role of Bill Paradene, had thought that taking part in the production would interfere with his studies in the Faculty of Medicine, but he agreed to undertake the part, and has since attended rehearsals regularly. The change of lead has thus given McGill students an opportunity to again see him on the stage of Moyse Hall.

The Patrons and Patronesses for the coming production are as follows: Sir Edward Beatty, K.C., G.B.E., Principal and Mrs. F. Cyril James, Dean and Mrs. J. C. Simpson, Dean and Mrs. Ernest Brown, Lt.-Col. and Mrs. J. M. Morris, Major and Mrs. A. T. Field, Capt. and Mrs. H. S. C. Brown, Capt. and Mrs. C. Richard Payan, Professor and Mrs. R. D. MacLennan, Professor and Mrs. Harold Hibbert, Professor and Mrs. David A. Keys, Professor and Mrs. Harold G. Files, Dr. W. Bruce Ross, Dr. Muriel Roscoe and Professor T. F. M. Newton.

The executive state that returns from the box office are very encouraging, and considerably better than at the same time last year. To date over $100 worth of tickets have been sold, with only a few dozen student tickets remaining for the Friday night performance, on St. Valentine's Day.

The box office in the McGill Union will remain open every day, Saturday included, from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. Tickets may also be obtained from members of the cast and the executive, and from the Tuck Shop, when the Box Office is closed. Tickets are 40 cents for (Continued on Page Four)

Don't Talk

It is necessary to emphasize certain things when there is war to make absolutely sure that the enemy will never find within their easy grasp vital information which would give them victory.

Fifth column activity is one of the most noxious things there is of that nature. A few nights ago when speaking to the women of McGill University, Superintendent Gagnon of the R.C.M.P. emphasized this. He said that the only way to combat this sort of thing was to LIVE our democracy.

He explained what the principles of fifth column activity are, and that they were actually seen in a statement of Herr Hitler which he made in private conference on January 7, 1932. In effect his words were these: "When I wage war it will be in peace; troops will appear. For example in Paris they will appear in French uniforms. In a few minutes France, Poland, etc., will be robbed of their leading men. Confusion will be beyond belief. A new government will be formed to please me—made up of men who will agree with me and who won't have to be bribed. Peace will be negotiated before war is begun. Arms will be transported by air. No Maginot line will stop us; we will destroy the enemy from within. No so-called International Law of Agreements will keep me from making the most of my opportunities."

It is evident from these words that many have come true. We must not be destroyed within, and that is what fifth column activity will do. There is no middle—the best neutrals fight with us. There is no room for communism, fascism, or nazism—they must be with, or we must fight them.

The most important rule is not to talk thoughtlessly; in the French of the last war, "Do not speak! Beware! Enemy ears are listening!" Never under any circumstances whatsoever discuss troops' movements, munitions, sailings, or anything of that nature. People who talk thoughtlessly may impart evidence which some fifth columnist is just waiting for.

Perhaps the slogan which might be used would be "Live democracy! But don't tell your aunt!"

Ambassadors of Light

There is no substitute for a good teacher. There never was nor will there ever be. No labor-saving device will ever waive the need for a good teacher. . . . The president of the college is no substitute for her, nor is the principal of the school. Her failure is but the prelude to theirs, since, by any logic, they exist in order that the service she has to perform may exist. All the gadgets that man has devised for the school-room will not redeem a poor teacher though they may help a good one. . . . A poor teacher fashions the curriculum into the rigidity of a catechism which tends to create an unbearable tedium and a spiritual sterility. A good teacher conceives the curriculum to be the unified stuff of man's achievements and dreams. . . . The radio does not pretend to be a substitute for a good teacher, nor does the book, nor newspaper, nor moving picture. They are about people, but they are not people. She is flesh and mind and spirit. It is her mission to save the good that man has done, and to make sure its increase. —Peabody Journal of Education

EMBEZZLED HEAVEN by Franz Werfel; Translated by Moray Firth; The Viking Press, New York, 1940; pp. 427; $3.00.

Undeniably the author of "The Forty Days of Musa Dagh" writes well. His descriptive passages are gems of literary achievement. His analysis of persons and situations are thorough and brilliant. His style is nothing short of superb. Yet in "Embezzled Heaven" he seems to have missed the mark. . . .

The story of "Embezzled Heaven" deals with the life of an Austrian maidservant, devoutly religious, old-maidishly self-centred, egotistical, suspicious and greedy. She conceives the idea of paying for the education of her nephew, Mojmir Linek, to the priesthood in the belief that such an action would enable her to improve her lot in heaven. The remainder of the book deals with the ingenious manner in which the rascally nephew manages to extract money from his gullible aunt. She eventually finds him out and ceases to be the object of his swindling. The spiritual breakdown which occurs in the life of this woman, Teta Linek, as a result of the crumbling of her scheme is very neatly patched up by a young priest, Johannes Seydel, whom she meets on a pilgrimage to Rome. He comes to assume Mojmir's place in her life and is the ultimate heir to her not inconsiderable life's savings. Her wish for a special prayer of intercession for her soul comes true when, through a complicated series of incidents, the Pope offers to pray for her.

Though exceptionally well-written the book leaves the reader perplexed as to how an author enjoying the reputation of Franz Werfel can write a story which is laid in the year 1937, in Austria, and still make it nothing more than a tale of robbers and heroes and unmaskings. It is inconceivable that any man who has been expropriated by the Nazis would wish to retire into an ivory tower and write about trivialities at a time when his voice, added to those of many others, can serve humanity by swelling the tide of universal protest against the perversion of the human mind. Is it possible that the author prefers to leave out the momentous events in the history for fear that they might cause him some mental agony? Does he prefer to save himself at the expense of writing an insane book? Does he think that the odd occasional reference to the state of Austrian affairs at the time is sufficient to atone for the irrelevant theme of the rest of the book? Or is it that he has lost the fiery zeal he so aptly displayed in "The Forty Days of Musa Dagh"? Can he not plead the cause of the rape of Austria as eloquently as he did that of Armenia? —L.N.P.

FAITH FOR LIVING by Lewis Mumford; Harcourt & Brace, New York, 1940; pp. 333; $2.75.

"Today every human being is living through an apocalypse of violence." Thus Mr. Mumford opens his "Faith for Living," and thus he continues, pointing out the pitfalls on whose brink we stand, and offers us a new faith to follow if the world is to be saved for humanity. Nazism and Fascism are the prime instigators of this insidious plot to wreck the world, but, he maintains, and very plainly so, America has also been largely to blame. Materialism has been the sole thought of this century. We have neglected the spiritual values which could have saved us from the terrible onslaught of misery and terror that confronts us now.

The liberal has dominated the scene, the human being has had no place in the rush of mechanical life. "The pragmatic liberals' failure to confront, except in a hurried, shamefaced way, the essential facts of life and death, has been responsible for much of the slippery thinking on the subject of war that has weakened the moral decision of millions." The complacency of the liberals and the curse of incurable optimism has closed their eyes to the dangers that lie ahead. Nor does the author stop there, but accuses the liberals outright for their "tenderness toward Fascism," and attacks Lindbergh and his "sneaking admiration for Nazi barbarism that shows itself in his callous utterances." The stupidity of men and the immaturity of the mature have left us in the state in which we find ourselves today. The simple, rational, sane idea fails because the liberal refuses to recognize the psychological element in human nature. Emotions have been shunned and evil has been regarded only as "a mental aberration." The development and growth of individual personality has been relegated to the background, and a life patterned to the most modern standards of living.

The family as a unit has disappeared. The spirit of ever moving on has defeated any tendency to thrust down roots which would foster a love of the soil and a tradition to hold on to. The church has had its value undermined by the rush of business and more interesting entertainment. All this has left open loopholes for other ideals—and Nazism and Fascism have not been tardy in finding them out. These things have undermined our democracy to such an extent that it totters under the weight of oncoming totalitarian states. The old-fashioned virtues must be re-established—here is our new faith. A new world must be created out of the shell that we call democracy. We must shake off the inertia of liberalism, and prepare for a rebirth of values.

Mr. Mumford will call down the wrath of those upholders of the complete freedom of speech, press, etc., but he points out sanely that America must, while being reborn within herself, prepare against external dangers. Only by censorship of all Fascist literature and propaganda can democracy continue to exist. The American is the complete liberal, but he must realize that the country is yet young, and should apply common sense to her theories if she would remain free.

America must turn to her moral and spiritual values. "That which must be kept alive at all costs is the spirit that creates the laws, the arts, the moral values; this forms as it were the topsoil of civilization and when it is entirely eroded, centuries and even millennia may be needed to recover it."

This is not a long book, but it is full of meaning, and it contains a message for all who will stop and read. It is not a destructive or despairing piece of work, but a plain outspoken treatise on the world as an American, and an intelligent one, sees it. No one can read this forceful book with its staccato phrases without heeding the plea that is there, for a new thoughtfulness and most important, a new faith for living. America, and all the remnant of the free world, must take this warning and act before it is too late. —R.M.C.

MUSIC NOTES

Morel Conducts Tonight.

Jean Morel, who a year ago first conducted Les Concerts Symphoniques de Montreal on his arrival from Paris, returns tonight to lead the orchestra in a program which features the Chilean pianist, Claudio Arrau as soloist in the Fourth Concerto of Beethoven. In addition, M. Morel has programmed the Carvenal Romain overture by Berlioz, and two modern French works: the First Symphony of Ernest Chausson, and Maurice Ravel's La Valse.

Weinrich Plays All-Bach Program.

Acknowledged among the greatest of American organists, Carl Weinrich, head of the organ department at the Westminster Choir College in Princeton, is to be the guest of the Casavant Society, on Thursday evening in Trinity Memorial Church. He has chosen a program made up entirely of works by Johann Sebastian Bach, which includes: the A Minor Concerto (transcribed from the Concerto for two violins by Vivaldi); the Fifth Trio-Sonata in C Major; two chorale preludes—Magnificat and Comest Thou now, Jesus, from Heaven; a Toccata, Adagio and Fugue in C Major; the chorale prelude, From Deepest Need I Cry to Thee; and the celebrated Passacaglia and Fugue in C Minor.

Not About Men?

By H. B.

Although we weren't there (after all it did come right at the end of the week), we hear Sadie made a graceful exit at the Spree Friday night. The co-eds, on the whole, reached the consensus of opinion that for one week footing the bills was fun, but for one week only. Various were the attitudes formed by the girls for future methods of attack in the next fifty-one weeks. Some felt they were going to get even with the boy-friend for his insisting on going to the Normandie; while others felt they had had a sufficient taste of the "male role" to warrant the strictest temperance in wants on their part for succeeding weeks. We for one are a strong believer in the egalitarian view except on that single point of footing the bills. It is a nuisance. . . .

Co-ed 1798.

It was interesting while rummaging through some old "London Times" of a friend of ours lately to come across the following advertisement. It led us on to a discussion of the difference in education for young ladies today and then (1798). Whether rightly or wrongly, the opinion reached was that young ladies today are lacking in adequate preparation for those more homey aspects of our civilization. Where have needle-work, sewing and embroidery work disappeared to in our living today? our hostess lamentingly asked. But look what has taken its place, we answered—sociology, economics, philosophy and the like, all of which would have been thought unbecoming to young ladies in those days. Oh well, without further ado we present the excerpt from The Times, Wed. Oct. 3, 1798:

At Miss Rutter's Boarding School, Morden Lane, Surrey. Young Ladies are carefully instructed in a Grammatical Knowledge of the English and French language; and in the various branches of useful and ornamental needlework. As Writing and Arithmetic are indispensably necessary in domestic economy, she wishes it to be understood that they are daily taught by Mr. Rutter with all that attention their importance demands. The above mentioned branches of education together with the Use of the Globes, are taught on reasonable terms. Drawing, Music and Dancing by Able Masters on the usual terms. . . .

Here's To The Chems.

We talk a lot in our column about engineers, and artisans and med students, but do we ever mention the chemists? No—terrible but true! And yet, just to heap coals of fire on our head, a couple of chems got together and contributed the following poem for our column. Now, it's a well-known fact that columnists love to get contributions. The reason? Obvious. And so in the future are we going to say nice things about the engineers, medics or artisans? No. But are we going to say nice things about the chems? And how. The following is their effort, not in its entirety but in its censored state. After all "Not About Men?" has a certain standard to maintain.

Beware, The Synthetic Beauty.

In chemistry it is forbidden,
To reveal the secrets hidden,
Back of every girlish laugh.
But a good bit more than half
Of that coy "come hither" eye,
Is derived from Formulae.

So, my friend, beware, beware,
Of the peroxide in her hair;
Of the sheer, clear, nylon hose,
And the acetone on her toes.
All these help attract the male,
Never were they known to fail.

Even Cleopatra once tried
For rouge, some ferric carboxide.
A dash of powdered indigo blue,
Made her dreamy eyes shine true.
Calcium carbonate with a puff,
And the complexion's never rough.

Another Chance for Bert?

Editor,
McGill Daily.

Dear Sir:

During the past couple of weeks many students of this university have spoken to me about the dismissal of Bert Yates from his position of night janitor in the Union, in whose employ he has faithfully served for the past 14 years. They maintained it is a shame and a disgrace to McGill University that a man, who has spent the best years of his life in the service of this institution, should be turned out in the cold—father of a family of five; too old to seek employment—or worse still, so long in the one position into which he had put his whole heart, that he is incapable of serving in any other capacity. This man, to whom we owe at least the debt of gratitude, has been discharged, and can now, as someone brilliantly suggested, "go on relief."

Bert was offered a job, kindness of the University, true enough—at twenty dollars a month less than before, and that was only ninety a month. To ask a married man with a large family, to live decently—with war-time prices, taxes and rent rising rapidly—is to expect the impossible. To imagine Bert had put enough aside for the evil day on that monthly ninety dollars is again a thoughtless surmise. Most college boys seem unaware that often what seems to them not a very large sum of money may spell the difference for some family between that of decent living, and poverty and the dole.

If Bert had been dismissed on a charge of dishonesty, theft, drunkenness, or criminal negligence, there would be nothing for us to do but to approve the action of the authorities. But the charge of "inefficiency" is a very vague and circumlocuous reason. It seems strange that Bert should be found inefficient after fourteen years. Such action as has been taken against him is the kind we read about in story-books, or would expect to take place when a new Quebec Government moves in. This sounds too much like "man's inhumanity to man" to make the action seem creditable. Personally—on my own behalf, and on behalf of those many students who have spoken to me about it—I feel Bert should be given another chance at his old job. So how about it?

Sincerely yours,

THOS. MULLIGAN.

It Has Been Done!

Editor,

McGill Daily.

The so called campaign heralding the arrival of P. G. W.'s comedy G. M. B. is lamentably insufficient. Not that the play needs much advance billing by reason of the fact that it is in every way a spectacle worth seeing. But it is impossible to draw an audience sufficient to make the production a financial as well as an artistic success without a certain amount of judicious advertising. And the Advertising has not been judicious. Last year's buildup for "I have been here before" was in very bad taste but vigorous; this year's spread is nothing short of feeble. To quote an eminent present-day philosopher, "Confidentially, eat steaks." It lacks forethought and planning and appears only to be used as filler for the Daily as, outrageous as it seems, are most of the other contributions.

This is not mainly the fault of the Players' Club but lack of co-operation on the part of the Daily, who should assign a liaison editor for featuring productions of this type, instead of relegating this information to the Department of Utter

Interest High for Crucial Inter-company Ice Fixture

C COMPANY STRONG

F Company Battle for Initial Win in Intercompany League

Play will be resumed in the Inter-company Hockey League when C Company meets F Company on the Forum ice at 12.30 p.m. This will be an important fixture for the science students of the former team who are struggling along on the verge of elimination from a playoff berth. Their luckless opponents have yet to register their initial win in the A class league, and are apt to give vent to their pent up desires against Grant Morrison's charges.

F COMPANY PLANS UPSET.
Playing-coach Gordon Young last night gave assurances that if his men turn out in better numbers today than they did in the past few games, the scientists are about to receive a jolting surprise. Coach Young explained that a lack of reserve strength has been the weak point on the F Company team to date, but seemed to believe that he will have sufficient strength to take this one.

SCIENCE STUDENTS STRONG.
On his side, playing-coach Grant Morrison refuted just about everything that his opponents' mentor had stated, and pointed to the fact that he would have new players on his lineup for this important engagement, in addition to his regular men. His tentative lineup has Morrison in the nets, Ward and Morrison at the blue line, with Young, Graves, and Read carrying the offensive chores. Reserve strength will be supplied by McMillan, Cowan, Hampson, Scobie, and Hall.

ENGINEERS LEADING LEAGUE.
Interest seems to be running high between the two teams, both of which are writhing in the humility of the lower section of the standing, and it promises to take on the aspect of a death struggle. At the moment B Company are showing their heels to the pack, with E Company closest in pursuit. The Artsmen of A Company are battling along in third position, and Companies C, D, and F fill out the remaining positions of the league in that order.

HOCKEY SECONDS IN GAMES TODAY
C Company Meets B; Independents Play D on Campus Rink

In the Intercompany Second Hockey League, two games are to take place this afternoon on the McTavish Rink. The opener will find Glen Cowan's C Company proteges facing the Engineers of Company B. This contest will get under way at 5.00 p.m. One hour later the players of D Company will skate out to tangle with the F Company seconds.

RIVALRY STRONG
The first game should be an interesting affair. From the drop of the hat in Intercompany competition last fall these two companies, B and C have been vying for aggregate point leadership, and there is usually little love lost when teams from the two sides come together. To date B Company have a slight lead over their second-place rivals, but much will depend upon the final outcome of both hockey leagues, and so tonight's tilt promises fireworks.

D COMPANY THREATENS.
In the other set-to, D Company are known to be a threat for league honors, while the Independents of F Company have shown promise also, although they have demonstrated the same weakness which has been characteristic of their first team as well. However, it is to be hoped that there will be no dearth of their pucksters tonight, and that it will be a nip and tuck affair all the way.

I.V.C.F.
There will be an I.V.C.F. luncheon in the Union Grill today, at 1 p.m. The speaker will be Dr. Northcote Deck.

Coed Ski Club to Show Films To Aid Dorothy Spitfire Fund

Tonight at 7.15 a natural colour film on skiing at Banff will be shown in the R.V.C. Common Room. The film shows the 1940 Dominion Ladies' Championships and contains some wonderful action shots of Dorothy Michaels, present holder of the Canadian Ladies title. Dorothy, herself, will be on hand to show the film. The admission will be 10c and the entire proceeds will go to the Dorothy Spitfire Fund.

A second film in colour will be shown depicting skiing on Mount Mansfield in the heart of the Green Mountains in Vermont. The pictures are being shown under the auspices of the McGill Women's Ski Club. It is hoped that all those interested in seeing some really fine skiing, and in helping a worthy cause will turn out.

A new tow has been erected on Mount Mansfield this season and this Green Mountain ski resort has become the centre of a rapidly growing ski community. The surrounding scenery is wonderful and the coloured films to be shown of this spot should be well worth seeing. It is on these slopes that the forthcoming Intercollegiate Ski Union meet is to be held this month with the University of Vermont acting as hosts for the various competing colleges.

The showing of the films tonight is not strictly a co-ed affair and the doors are open to both male and female ski enthusiasts. The films will begin at 7.15 p.m. sharp, and will conclude in ample time for the girls to make the Arts Building by 8.00 p.m. for the War Services Training Program.

Company managers should make sure that at least two men are ready to play at 5.15. If any team cannot play as scheduled will manager advise Mr. Van Wagner as soon as possible.

SQUASH TOURNAMENT

The tournament to determine the McGill 1940-41 Squash Champion will get under way the first of next week. All squash players should enter by signing on the notice board at the Gym, or by phoning one of the following by Wednesday, Feb. 12th.

Bill Arbuckle, BE. 2885
Peter Landry, FI. 3813
Gault Finlay, MA. 8074

WEEKLY SWIMMING MEETS

On Tuesday, February 11th, both the Vickerson Trophy Events and the Weekly Handicaps will be inaugurated.

Owing to the fact that many students are engaged in Military Training until 6.00 p.m. on Tuesdays it is the intention of the Committee to repeat the same events on the Friday of the same week. Thus each event on the program will be held twice, once on Tuesday and once on Friday. Those taking part in the events will have their "times" recorded by the Judges and place winners will be announced at the end of each week.

Since handicaps are being arranged the Novice has just as good a chance of winning as the expert swimmer. The events are wide open, if you can swim at all you should be out earning points for your Company. Points are given for participation as well as for winning so that every person who takes part is doing his bit regardless of where he places.

In the following schedule please note that the first event for each week will be run on a handicap basis, and the second event will be open for the Vickerson Trophy.

CORRECTION

Yesterday's Daily Sports page contained a picture, supposed to be that of John Foster who was a member of the McGill ski team which made the trip to the Dartmouth Winter Carnival and who was the surprise of the jumping event, finishing a close second to Simpler of Dartmouth. By an error the picture actually printed was that of Fred Moore, another member of the team.

CAGE MATCHES PRODUCE KEEN COMPETITION

Platoon 9 Wins in Hard Fought Game

THREE TEAMS ADVANCE

Elimination Tourney to Be Followed by Intercompany League

By M.I.S.

The Interplatoon Basketball elimination tournament entered the third round yesterday as three more teams forced their way into this bracket at the expense of their less fortunate rivals. At the present time it seems fairly definite that at the completion of this tourney an Intercompany Basketball league will be started in which the competition is expected to be rather keen due to the fact that most of the players will be in fine shape as a result of the present matches.

CLOSE COMPETITION.

In the First and most keenly contested game Platoon 9 nosed out Platoon 4 by the score of 23-20. L. Zalkind and R. Cully with 10 points were high scorers for the winners and losers respectively. In the next match Ind. 5 defeated Platoon 21 20-15. Caino led the scoring, getting 10 points for the winners while the best display for the Engineers was turned in by Weiss who obtained 6 points. In the only other game played Platoon 27 humbled Platoon 12 by 27-10. In this game A. Neish went on a scoring spree for the victors obtaining 16 points, while Bullock was second with a total of 8.

MACDONALD STRONG.

In a game played last Saturday out at Macdonald College, Macdonald 2 swamped Platoon 20 by the score of 58-19. This same powerful team will take on Ind. 5 at St. Anne's on either Thursday or Saturday of this week.

SQUAD LEADERS

Bill Weber of Platoon No. 9 is hereby notified that he has successfully passed the prescribed Gymnastic Tests for the Squad Leader Crest and is being recommended for his award. Other Squad Leaders who have not yet completed their tests and intend doing so are urged to show up for the next practice which is being held Thursday from 5.00 P.M. to 7.00 P.M.

Intercompany Swimmers Open Meet Tonight at K. of C. Pool

McGill swimmers inaugurate their weekly meets at the Knights of Columbus pool tonight at 5.30 p.m. The meet will be run for both beginners and seasoned swimmers with the veterans swimming for the Vickerson Trophy.

There are to be six events for the Vickerson Trophy with the highest total points in all events to requisite for the trophy winner.

In the other half of the meet the beginners will vie on a handicap basis. In each event the points will be allotted on an Intercompany basis with every participant gaining one point for his company, the heat winner adding another point for his company and finally the winner, runner-up, and third place men in the finals will gain five, three and one extra respectively for their various companies.

The events to be run off today will include the 75 yard breast stroke as the handicap event and the 50 yards free style as the opening event for the Vickerson trophy.

Since many students have military training until 6.00 p.m. tonight the same events will be run off this Friday for these competitors. Similarly in future weeks each event will be run off Tuesday and Friday with all times being recorded by the judges and the winners being announced at the end of the week.

Since handicaps are being arranged the novice has just as good a chance of winning as the expert swimmer and a large amount of interest is expected in the forthcoming meets.

PLATOON SPORTS REPRESENTATIVES

The following Platoons have not yet turned in their lists of players for the Company Water Polo League:—Platoons No. 4, No. 7, No. 10, No. 12, No. 14, No. 15, No. 16, No. 17, No. 18, No. 19, No. 20 and the Independents. Since the league commences on Wednesday of this week it is imperative that the Platoon Sports Representatives turn in their lists at once.

INTERCOMPANY SQUASH

D Company Defaults Four Scheduled Matches

Of the five matches scheduled in the Intercompany Squash League only one was played. In this match Colquhoun of D Company defeated Ian Ross of A Company, 15-8, 18-17, 15-5. In the other four matches G. Swinton, J. Bailey, J. McNiven, H. Patch, all of A Company, won by default over their rivals from D Company.

one hand and the Nazis and Fascists on the other, became really intensified.

Looking back on the noisy, Nazi-Communist battle now with a full knowledge of the subsequent making of the monstrosities, one is given to wonder slightly if Stalin and Hitler were not doing a little quiet courting even at that time. At any rate the battle, which may have been a sham battle, served the dictators a very useful purpose in other countries—among them, Canada.

Where Were Canadians?

You will all remember Parlor Pinks who, without going any further than the headlines of the wordy battle being waged said "I am a Communist." Others thinking they saw something less vile in the ravings of Hitler, said: "This fellow has something." But do you remember anyone at that time saying in anything like a voice loud enough to be heard above the din created by the Nazis and Communists: "I am neither Communist nor Nazi. I cannot be either of these things because I am a Canadian."

By this I do not mean to imply that we all took sides and became supporters of one or the other of these subversive groups. Far from it. But we did allow this noisy battle to go on in our country while we sat back in the comfortable belief that these things only vaguely interested Canada and that at any rate, our ideas of Democracy, liberty, free speech and our methods of life were much too firmly entrenched for these "isms" to make any lasting headway. This feeling of complacency was largely the work of what is now commonly known as the "Fifth Column." In other words, while some of the organizations set up by the different isms lured us comfortably to sleep, other branches set up for that particular purpose, attended to the strengthening in our country of these subversive groups.

They Don't Play Cricket

Mind you, we were and still are, at a considerable disadvantage in one way. We had been trained that fighting should be done in a fair stand-up manner. We insisted that what little fighting against these organizations did take place, was carried out under the strictest interpretation of the Marquess of Queensbury rules. This temporary disadvantage, for in the end it must prove an advantage, worked and was worked to the immense benefit of the subversive crowd.

While they pursued their maggoty technique of boring from within, of lies and hypocrisy, of poison and treachery, we stuck, and will stick, to the old beliefs of fair play, honor and truth. While laughing at us for these beliefs that will in the end prove their undoing, the subversive elements took full advantage of the opportunities thus afforded.

Criminal Gang Leaders

I have often noticed that when a new racket is organized, or when a new gang of criminals starts operation, they, for a time, have an advantage. Squeezing between the laws existing, they avoid retribution until such time as their methods become fully known and adequate means are prepared for their punishment. Hitler, Mussolini and Stalin, are in much the same case as any other leaders of gangs of criminals who have discovered some new racket or way of avoiding existing laws and penalties. Like other racketeers they had an early advantage and being the leaders of gangs much larger than the usual criminal gangs, it has taken longer to become fully aware of their methods and to arrange for the punishments due. Those first stages have now passed and I think that, to carry the comparison further, punishment is now being arranged.

Our experience has been that the strength of these subversive gangs, at least insofar as their branches in Canada are concerned, is not so much in their ability or cleverness as organizers as in their ability to cast off all restrictions of truth, decency, religion, or honesty. We find it incredible that persons could so completely throw overboard all those things that we have raised to admire. We find it impossible to believe that in the pursuit of what I have referred to as the maggoty technique of boring from within, our fellow men could make use of tactics employed by these enemies, Denmark, Holland, Norway, Belgium, France, all these have given us ample proof, but we are still inclined to doubt that so much evil can exist.

Deluged With Propaganda

Let us go back again to that noisy battle between the Communists and Nazis. As the fight continued, we were deluged with showers of circulars, pamphlets, booklets, speeches, by Communists against the Nazis and Fascists; by Nazis and Fascists against Communists, but, and it seems that this may have been the chief purpose of the fight, the important things is that we were deluged with propaganda. None of this propaganda preached Canadianism. But under the cover of the fight, apart from the flood of direct propaganda, we were being jockeyed into a position where the choice seemed to be as between the poisons of Dictators as a cure for our difficulties.

Under the cover of this fight and with the support of direct propaganda, from all of the "isms," every institution in our country was held up to ridicule. Every part of our national life was found to be faulty. To be sure there were many faults in our system, there still are many faults, but the practice common to all of the subversive groups, was to find such faults—magnify them and build them up, publicize them and then, as a cure all, hold up their totalitarian systems.

Critique Our Institutions

Doesn't it seem ridiculous now that we should have listened for years to say criticisms of our police forces, from the lips of agitators representing movements that had brought into being the Gestapo, the Chekka and the OGPU and made of them throughout the democratic world, words immediately associated with torture, sudden death. Imagine organizations fostering Communism and Nazism and the sudden death methods of administering justice practised by those movements, criticizing our courts with our public trials, juries and other administrative details built up by years of practising of the belief that every man is entitled to a fair trial. Yet we listened to those criticisms for years, along with criticisms of every other part of our lives. And always there was the flood of propaganda holding out as an alternative the poisons of Communism, Fascism and Nazism.

Constructive Criticism Required

Certainly we had faults. Certainly we still have faults. Certainly many of our institutions are open to criticism. But such criticism should be constructive. That offered by the subversive groups, regardless of what they call themselves, or the color of the shirt that marked their gang, could not be constructive. Communists, Fascists, and Nazis all aimed at one thing and one thing only — to destroy in order that they could build in our place their own type of prison freedom. Criticism of Canadian methods should bring with it Canadian suggestions for improvement—not suggestions of the sort favored by Stalin, Hitler, or Mussolini.

Freedom of Speech

One of our best loved institutions, that of Free speech, while not practised in their home-stamping grounds, met with wide approval from the subversive elements. They took every possible advantage of free speech and raised tremendous arguments whenever their activities were being curbed, that they were spoken in favor of the rights of free speech. I do not mean to imply by any means that all persons who spoke in favor of the rights of free speech were subversive agents. Far from it. But I do say that the subversive elements abused those rights and then, and often with the support of well meaning persons and organizations, confused the issue by loudly claiming that they were being denied the rights of free citizens. I wonder if tonight four or five persons gathered on the sidewalk outside of the home of a subversive leader and started discussing the best means by which the house could be destroyed, whether by fire, explosion, or other violent means, what would happen. I am convinced that the City Police would immediately receive a "hurry-up" call from the householder demanding the immediate arrest of the plotters and the protection of his household. The only difference between this imaginary gang of men plotting the destruction of one house and the Communists, Nazis and Fascists, is that the latter are actually planning not the destruction of one house in our country, but the destruction of the entire country.

Anti-Fascist Front.

The fighting between the subversive groups continued up until the pact between Hitler and Mussolini. About two years before that pact, the Communists who had made a showing of operating openly as the Communist Party of Canada, changed and became a united front against Fascism. Under this cover they enlisted many organizations to their support and were successful in securing control of many such organizations. The Nazis and Fascists in the fact of this united front, increased their efforts and the war between these "isms" in this country was reaching a new high when the pact was signed.

The leaders in this country appear to have been taken by surprise since all of the united fronts immediately collapsed and remained silent until new instructions were received. At the present time it is most difficult to know how close the parties are. One thing, however, as I have already stated, is certain—all are against Canada.

I have tried to point out that one of the chief dangers was the apathetic attitude of the general public toward subversive activities. That danger has now largely passed. What remains is to bring about a public interest in the study of the methods of the subversive groups. Once brought out into the clear from under the mountains of lies under which they have buried themselves, they can be cut away, it cannot be expected that in the articles to follow, all of their methods, which have been the subject of many volumes, can be discussed. I hope, however, that sufficient interest will be aroused to convince you of the necessity of going back of the headlines and devoting a part of your time to a thorough study of these groups.

THIS THING CALLED LOVE.
Columbia picture directed by Alexander Hall.
Cast.
Ann Winters.....Rosalind Russell
Tice Collins.....Melvyn Douglas
Charlotte Campbell.....Binnie Barnes
Harry Bertrand.....Allyn Joslin
Florence Bertrand.....Gloria Dickson
"This Thing Called Love" was directed by Alexander Hall, the Man-Who-Gets-By-Hayes. The picture is about this thing called love, all right, with the accent on its more fundamental aspects. Not that the picture is blatant or cheaply vulgar; by virtue of Czar Hayes an innocent child would come out still innocent, though perhaps a bit mystified. But adults will find its mature sophistication distinctly refreshing after the long cycle of "family" pictures the Legion of Decency made necessary.

Mr. Hall's peculiar talent for the ribald is saved for the screen (as in "My Favorite Wife" and others of that ilk) by the simple expedient of marrying his lovers in the first reel and then carrying on from there. In "This Thing Called Love" the comic twist is provided when Tice Collins (Melvyn Douglas) marries Ann Winters (Rosalind Russell) only to find that she has an anti-divorce plan which involves a three-month marriage blanc. His efforts to make her give up her plan and his method of consolation are the basis of a sophisticated farce, which is often extremely funny. Werner Haymann's gay musical score, based on the theme "A-Hunting We Will Go," helped considerably in working up the atmosphere.

The plot is, of course, made to measure for the talents of Rosalind Russell and Melvyn Douglas, who cavort most agreeably in their own suave fashion. Allyn Joslin and Binnie Barnes provide some of the best moments in the picture. One wonders why such a very capable actress as Binnie Barnes is not given more and better opportunities.

Also on the program is an excellent "March of Time" feature, tracing the rise of organized labor in the U.S. and outlining its importance to the present defence scheme. —H.L.L.

20, when the McGill team meets the Forensic Society of Western University. The subject, as announced last night by the Debating Union Society, will be a discussion as to the probable effect of the participation of the United States in the present war. This subject will be argued pro and con when the Mustangs of Western University meet the Redmen of McGill. The McGill team will take the affirmative side of the argument: Resolved that it is of greater advantage to the British Empire that the United States remain out of the present war. Mervyn Weiner and Lloyd Henderson will represent McGill.

The next inter-collegiate debating activity of note will be the tour of the McGill team to the Universities of Queens, Toronto and Western during the week of February 24.

About Alex Brott.

Editor,
McGill Daily.
Sir:

I would like to supplement your reviewer's notes on the Montreal Orchestra's concert of Sunday last.

It may not be generally known that Mr. Brott, conductor on that occasion, owes much of his musical education to our Conservatorium. He has already distinguished himself as a violinist and composer, and added to his laurels by doing a first class job on Sunday at the last moment with the minimum of rehearsal time. McGill should be very proud of Alex Brott. He has a fine career in front of him and already reflects great credit on the University.

Mr. Brott, as a matter of fact, has conducted the Orchestra once before at a broadcast concert, a much less arduous task than Sunday's. He also conducted a brief work of his own at a regular concert last season. It is another argument in favor of the Montreal Orchestra's continuation, despite difficult times, that it has given such opportunities for the display of talent of which McGill, in particular, should be very proud.

Yours, etc.,
G. M. DRUMMOND.

One Negro was worrying about the chances of his being drafted for the army. The other consoled him. "There's two things that can happen, boy. You are either drafted or you ain't drafted. If you ain't, you can forget it; if you is, you still got two chances. You may be sent to the front and you may not. If you go to the front, you still got two chances—you get shot and you may be not get shot. If you get shot, you still have two chances—you may die and you may not. And even if you die, you still has two chances." —MANITOBAN.

Council Notes

The following is a brief summary of the business conducted at the last meeting of the Students' Executive Council.

The financial report of the Junior Prom was submitted showing a loss of $9.72.

The Chairman reported that no reply had been received from the N.F.C.U.S. regarding permission to have a financial campaign for Spitfires.

Correspondence was read from the International Student Service regarding the collection of funds for this organization. A committee of one, Cyril Powles, was appointed to secure further information.

Upon a request from the Commerce Undergraduates' Society for payment of this year's fees pending receipt of invoices for last year's expenses, it was decided to forward part only of these fees and that the balance be held until the missing invoices are received.

The McGill Union Cafeteria financial arrangements were approved for the second term.

The President of the McGill Union reported to the Council that a recent change had been made in the personnel of the Union staff in which Bert Yates had been dismissed as night attendant and a new man hired. A motion was carried approving these staff changes.

Grade "A" Senior Executive Awards were granted to the retiring members of the Council: Robert A. Spencer, Douglas Mann, Fred Fredrick, Victor Savage, James Doyle, Walter Epply, Phyllis Buckingham, and B. K. Cronk.

Gordon Kohl and Joan Garland were appointed co-chairmen of a committee formed to hold a financial campaign among the students to raise money for Greek Medical Supplies.

Ninety-Fourth Annual Report

TO THE SHAREHOLDERS
Gentlemen,
Your Directors have pleasure in presenting the Ninety-Fourth Annual Report of the affairs of the Bank and the result of its operations for the year ending December 31st, 1940.

The net profits for the year were $291,522.13 and the balance brought forward from last year's Profit Account was $251,010.10, making a total of $542,532.23. In addition to the usual quarterly distributions to its shareholders, the Bank contributed from this amount $12,000.00 to various charitable and philanthropic funds—independently of the amount of $10,150.00 interest on the Charity Donation Fund, distributed as usual—leaving a balance at the credit of undivided Profit Account of $530,532.23 to be carried forward in next year.

As usual a frequent and thorough inspection of the books and assets of the Bank has been made during the year.

The Report of the Auditors and the Balance Sheet are herewith submitted.

R. DANDURAND, President.
